PEN PICTURES OF SENATORS

Archie Butt Photographs the Leaders in the Grim Old Senate.

Voorhees' Mantle has Fallen Upon the Shoulders of Senator Jones, of Arkansas.

[Special to the Evening Post].
Washington, May 31.—The tariff bill seems to be on the three quarter stretch at last. It has had pretty hard running, for the track up to this point has been very muddy. The sugar schedule will be finished by the middle of next week at the farthest, and then paragraph after paragraph will be closed with a rapidity which the Senate is noted for in passing appropriation bills.

Hill will make a bluster about free raw materials, and the Republicans will probably vote with him after voting for a bounty on sugar. The schedule, as it now stands, will pass the Senate, however, but it is exceedingly doubtful whether or not it will find safe anchor in the conference.

The question of the tariff is now losing part of its interest, but strange to say, the interest which surrounds the leaders of this great movement is increasing.

It is rather curious, the number of men who have come to the front during this debate. The most remarkable incident is that of Senator Jones, of Arkansas. He has recently supplanted Senator Voorhees in importance on the Finance Committee. It has been a voluntary retirement of the tall scion of the Wahabash; however, the remembrance of the trying experience of the extra session was too fresh in his memory for him to enter upon another prolonged and tedious battle. He is one of the most striking features on the floor, however, and his presence seems to add strength to the cause of tariff reform. He is getting old, and shows his advancing years, but he is willing to remain in the committee and go forth with the army to battle. The victory he won in the extra session would cover his closing years with glory, from a parliamentary standpoint, even should he not take any other prominent part in national legislation. He has certainly lowered his lance for this Congress at least and thrown his man's upon Jones, of Arkansas.

When setting in his Senate seat he has the appearance of a crouching lion, and his tormentors have failed utterly so far to rouse him from the lethargy in which he seems to have fallen. He sits quietly hour after hour, his head bowed down upon his breast, his face impassive and absolutely without expression; he knows that he must rest and rest fully if he intends to live. The Republicans have tried to give him into the open, but he gances at them in a half sleepy, vacuous manner and resumes his pose, which is that of a complete divorcement from activity.

The most interesting character of the fight is Harris, of Tennessee; he is the ringmaster who cracks the whip and asks the questions and shifts the scene; all of his life has been spent in party warfare, and he knows how to meet steel with steel; he is the acknowledged parliamentarian of the Senate, and the combined forces of the Republicans can not shake him. He is absolutely hideous, and has not the redeeming feature of a kindly expression.

Yet there is not a Senator, Democrat or Republican, who does not love him personally; nor is there any other Senator upon the floor from whom they would receive their rebuffs, or lectures, as they do from Harris. Harris loves dearly to make him mad, and succeeds.

Harris speaks with great directness and vigor of language; he has a way of pointing his long forefinger at the face of the man to whom he is talking and after scorning him soundly dismisses him with a gesture of disgust and then "moves to lay the amendment on the table."

Harris in reality lays down the law for the Senate; he is positive and domineering to the last degree, rides roughshod over every one that comes his way, friend or foe, and is capricious.

Crickets.

Lander, Wyo., June 2.—Lander valley is threatened with destruction by invasion of the Mormon-Utah cricket. Many of the pests are 24 inches long. They devour all before them.

Four Children at One Birth.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 30.—Mrs. Samuel Raphael, of this city, has just given birth to four children, three boys and a girl. Two of the boys, however, died shortly after birth; the two living children and the mother are dead.

The circumstances are that here was a spectator at a negro dance, and he started off with a woman. Andy Johnson, who was a policeman followed him, and declared he would arrest him. Horn said, "No you won't" and the shooting began. Several shots were exchanged and then the spectators were called to the scene, when it was found that Johnson was dead and his opponent died thirty minutes afterwards.

"Col." Andy Johnson was a well known character in Bell county. In the early days of Pineville he was known as a terror, but of late he had been a peaceful and law abiding citizen.

ANDY JOHNSON SLAIN

The Former Bell County Terror Shot to Death At Pineville.

Pineville, Ky., June 2.—Andy Johnson, who has been notorious in Bell county for several years and who has had a record of six or more men killed, met death tonight at the hands of a young man named Jim Horn; the duel was to death. Both are dead.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS.

Call for a Meeting of the National League.

Washington, June 3.—A call has been issued for a meeting of the negro national Democratic league, at Indianapolis, beginning Tuesday, August 2. The call is signed by C. H. J. Taylor, president, the recently confirmed recorder of deeds of the District of Columbia, and H. G. C. Astwood, the rejected consul to Calais, chairman executive committee. Explanatory directions are given in the call to the chairman and secretaries of the negro state Democratic leagues how to proceed with the election of two delegates from each State, so that "conciliation and unpleasant wrangling" may be avoided, and it is stated that no one is to be allowed to be present except duly accredited delegates absent such other persons who, absent from or present during the negro national Democratic League.

MEEKER ON WOOL.

American Wool at Bradford—On the Free List a Foreign Demand.

Washington, June 2.—Mr. Claude Meeker, consul at Bradford, England, has been writing to the State Department about American wool in England: It seems that early this year large quantities of American wool were offered for sale at Bradford; as Mr. Meeker says was so unusual as to attract attention and an endless sum of gossip in the market, on Change, and at the clubs. These wools were from Ohio and Michigan.

Mr. Meeker says that the wool merchants and manufacturers of Bradford believe that if wool is put on the free list by congress the price of American wool will revive. So firm were they in this belief and so sure were they that democratic success and the inauguration of a Democratic President, supported by a Congress Democratic in both branches, meant the immediate passage of such a bill, that several of the Bradford wool merchants and manufacturers bought, as early as last winter, through agents, large quantities of wool in Philadelphia and Boston for future delivery.

Mormons in Europe.

The Paris Liberte says: "We are threatened with an invasion of Mormons. In fact, the approaching departure from New York is announced of a thousand disciples of Brigham Young, who are to spread themselves over France, Germany and other European countries to preach polygamy. It is not the first time that the Mormons have sought to make recruits on the old continent. Some years ago several representatives of this ridiculous sect made a fruitless expedition into Toulouse, and the presence was noted in Paris of a Mormon bigwig.

Not since the unveiling of the Lee statue has there been such a demonstration in cannon, firing of musketry and the shouts of assembled thousands and in dripping rain, the Confederate soldiers and sailors monument was unveiled on Libby hill here this afternoon. Battle scarred veterans, with faces bathed in tears, witnessed the falling of the cloth from the shaft erected to the sacred memory of their departed comrades.

Not since the unveiling of the Lee statue has there been such a demonstration in cannon, firing of musketry and the shouts of assembled thousands of a way, but these are the men who are really at the head of their forces.

There is at least one good Democrat still doing business in the United States Senate. His name is Mills, and for years he breathed the Democratic atmosphere of our neighbor, Livingston county.

A business mass meeting was held in New York Friday to protest against the income tax. The millionaire of New York wants the poor consumers of the country to pay as much toward supporting the Federal Government as he does, and he secures his wants in a high tariff law, which taxes that which is consumed while the millions laid away go untouched by the Federal tax collector.

Our neighbor, the Monitor, seems bent upon "pouring the vials of its wrath" upon John A. Sullinger. The malefactors called down on his head and hurled like javelins mighty taumaturgists, even in his character, would doubtless have alarmed an enthusiastic Crusader of the fourteenth century, but they do not appear to disturb the usual poise of an honest, sturdy, plain boy like John Sullinger, reared in an honest, humble home. The truth is, John can easily stem the current of these invasions, remembering that "Curses are like young chickens, And still come home to roost."

Frederick Wilson was pastor in 1840. Abel Teger was called to the care of the church in 1841 and received six members.

Willis Champion was called to the care of the church in 1842 and was also pastor in 1843, receiving nine members.

Chalborn Wilson was again called in 1844, and served as pastor until 1849, when he died.

Joel E. Grace was again called in 1849 and served until 1853, receiving five members.

T. B. Rushing was called in 1853, serving four years and received 17 members.

Pastor in 1857 unknown. W. A. McChesney served as pastor 5 years beginning in 1858, and received 12 members.

Willis Champion was again called in 1863. In 1864 no pastor reported. M. McMurray was called in 1865 and also served in 1866, and received 24 members.

C. Hodge was called in 1867, and served until 1870, and received 41 members.

I. McMurry was again called in 1870 and served 3 more years, receiving 51 members in all.

M. H. Uley was called in 1873 and served until 1876, and received 58 members.

E. B. Blackburn was called in 1876 members.

H. Uley was again called in 1880 and received 4 members.

E. B. Blackburn was pastor in 1880-88, and received 47 members.

J. N. Robinson was called in 1889 and received 6 members.

E. B. Blackburn was again called in 1893, and is pastor at the present time. He has served as pastor for 16 years and received 241 members.

The church has sent out ten ministers, as follows: C. Wilson, M. Hammons, Wm. Hall, W. Champion, W. F. Robertson, Wm. Gresham, J. J. Franks, L. P. Conger, B. F. Crow, F. M. Conger.

The Deacons since 1865 are: W. J. Bruce, R. L. Thurman, R. P. Gass, J. M. McChesney, R. M. Gilbert, W. T. Davis, F. M. Conger.

In conclusion we will say that we think this sermon a grand thing, and that there was great interest taken in our meeting and that there is good information to be gained in such meetings. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the congregation both Saturday and Sunday, for their good attention.

New Railroad to be Built.

Cairo, Ill., June 4.—A railroad will be built between this city and Paducah, Ky., in the near future. Major M. O'leary and a party of engineers yesterday finished the surveying of a route on the south side of the Kentucky hills bordering the Ohio river, and tomorrow will start back on the north side to survey a second route. The present survey is 31 miles and a fraction in length, and extends from Paducah to East Cairo. This is a project which local capitalists have considered for several years, but the present venture is being backed by Paducah citizens. The road will be known as the Cairo & Paducah railroad. October 1 is the day named for completion.

There is a Republican candidate for office in this county who the leaders of the party think is well qualified for the office which he asks, but say, he has not voted with that party for some time, and hence they are afraid of him. If the Democrats had only voted for men who would have been true to their constituents, we would have had a great deal better times than we are having. When office holders betray the confidence reposed in them by those who elected them to their posts, it is sure to bring about a general dissatisfaction.

Short Talks on Advertising.

It is continuous effort that pays in advertising as in everything else. A business man doesn't keep his store open one day in the week, or one week in the month, or three months in the year. If he advertises that way that is the impression people will get. It is continuance that has made each letter in the word "Royal" before the words "Baking Powder" worth over $1,000,000. The owner of Royal Baking Powder recently refused $13,000,000 for his business—a business built up and fostered by persistent advertising.

People are very forgetful. They have to think pretty hard to remember the vice-presidential candidate two campaigns back, and yet he was pretty well advertised at the time. It has been truly said that the time to advertise is all the time. In business there is no such thing as standing still. A business man must go forward or he will fall back. Even if you do just as much business this year as you did last, some other fellow is doing more business and he is getting ahead of you.

Each year's efforts should be to exceed last year's sales. The only sure way to do it is to advertise. Advertise in busy times because the iron must be struck while it is hot, and advertise in dull times to heat the iron. It can be done.

It is a safe rule to take advertising as you would medicine—when you need it. Advertising is the only medicine for sick business, but it must be of good quality, just as medicine must be good to do good.

It is poor policy to publish a misleading ad. The plainer and more truthful it is the better. Business men are coming to understand this, more and more, everyday. The time has passed when "people like to be humbugged." Barnum is dead.

When you have decided what to say and how to say it, pick out the best paper you can find and use it.

Remember that the best paper is the cheapest and the place to put your advertising is in the place that people look for their news. Make the ad's new and they will pay.

There is nothing mysterious about advertising. It is an exact science. You are simply telling people where they can get certain needed things. That's all there is of it. If you can tell them about something they want or ought to want—if you have a good thing to offer—advertising will sell it. Most any sort of advertising is useful, but newspaper advertising is not only the best, but it costs less than any other kind—service considered. You can get more circulation—talk to more people—for less money in a newspaper, than in any other way.

The Methodist District Conference meets in Greenville today.

Franklin dances barn, four miles west of Marion, was destroyed by fire Saturday. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Mr. John Farris, of Livingston county, came up Tuesday to meet his little blind daughter, who has been attending the school for the blind in Louisville.

Last evening Albert Crane, the colored barber, and Ada Rice were uniting in marriage at the Methodist church, Rev. Lanier officiating. A splendid supper was served to the many invited guests.

The colored conference of the Free-will Baptists, held at this place, adjourned Sunday night. Sunday the town was full of colored people, and services were held Sunday at the opera house.

Seventeen applicants were before the county board of examiners Friday and Saturday, for certificates to teach school. There has been no one in this county, so far, who has applied for a State certificate. The grades of those examined will be given next week.

Dr. D. Longnecker, practical optician will be in Marion, Ky., June 11 and 12 1894, office at the Clement House. Dr. Longnecker will examine scientifically and accurately by the most approved method known to science, all who desire to have their eyes tested free of charge.

There seems to be considerable displease manifested in some of the school districts of this county because of the purchase, by the trustees, of certain maps and charts contracted to be paid for by district taxation. In the Geiger district there is said to be a tree-sun growing out of it and other school matters.

The Mother Hubbard party Wednesday night was simply immense, and created no end of amusement among the lads and lasses. The matrons assembled at Mrs. Cameron's and proceeded thence to the residence of Mr. R. B. Dorr, where a pleasant evening was spent.

A. F. Griffith received a telegram Tuesday afternoon announcing that his brother John had died in Henderson that morning and the news spread rapidly over town and the country. It proved, however, to be an error in the telegram. It was Mr. J. R. Griffith's little two-year old child that died Tuesday morning. The remains were brought here Wednesday and buried in the cemetery at Union Church.

Saturday afternoon, as she was returning home from town, Miss Alvin Gregory, daughter of Mr. R. B. Gregory, met with what came near being a serious accident. She was riding along when her horse became frightened at some object by the roadside and was unmanageable. The young lady was thrown to the ground and for awhile was unconscious. She recovered soon, however, and was able to mount the animal again and ride home.

Remember if you need glasses Dr. Longnecker guarantees to you a perfect and satisfactory fit. He makes a specialty of complicated and difficult diseases, particularly those of the different forms of astigmatism. It will cost you nothing. If you have been unable to secure perfect vision before, it will certainly be of great benefit to you to consult Dr. Longnecker, and have him make a thorough examination of your eyes.

The district presidents of the first district will visit the following Sunday schools. The superintendents will please announce the appointments: Shady Grove third Sunday in June 9 o'clock a. m.; Sugar Grove third Sunday 3 o'clock p. m.; Midway fourth Sunday in June 9 o'clock a. m.; Clayville fourth Sunday at 3 o'clock p. m.

H. S. WHEELER.
J. B. McNEELY.

Mr. H. Kerr Wardell and wife, who were the guests of Col. A. H. Cardin a few weeks ago, will sail for their home, Liverpool, on the 20. Mr. W. is a member of one of the largest tobacco importing houses in Europe, and his business to this country was that of soliciting consignments. He was successful beyond expectations, and hereafter a very large per cent. of the export from this section will be consigned to his house.

Musical Entertainment.

Mrs. Thomas' musical entertainment will be held at the Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, June 20 and 21. Mrs. Thomas' ability in getting up such entertainments is well known and needs no recommendation. She has endeavored to make this better, if possible, than any previous attempt. Every lover of good music should attend both meetings. Music on all the instruments. General admission 15 cents. Reserved seats 25c.

To Rector.—A house of five rooms on Bellville street, Marion, Ky. A. M. Gilbert.

Fifty 50 lb. cans corn try lard to be sold at 9c. per lb. for cash only. M. Schwab.

Among the Churches.

Sunday there were services at the Presbyterian and Methodist churches. The doors of each was opened by the pastor. Those who joined the Presbyterian church are Dr. W. J. Deboe, Dr. J. H. Orme, Wm. Clement, Giswell Bennett, Jr., J. W. Goodloe and wife, Perry D. Maxwell, Charles Elder, Misses Kittie Woods, Jennie and Cora Potter.

The committee of Finance, and the committee of Arrangements of the Free meeting, as well as the pastor of each church in town, request us, for them, to thank Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bane for the use of the opera house for the meeting. The doors of the splendid hall were thrown open with one money and without price, a very generous act on the part of the owners and the public appreciated it.

Those who joined the Methodist church are W. H. Copier, J. N. Thomas, D. B. Moore, S. D. Hodge, C. S. Nunn, O. M. James, Nathan Ross, Roy Gilbert, Ed. Olive, Mrs. Anna Wallingford, A. C. Moore and wife, and Misses Ray Woods, Annie Wilson, Lucy Thomas, Macy Coffield, Lucy Walker and Kittie Haynes.

The Baptist people of Repton are erecting a new church at that place, and will soon have it ready for use. It will be a neat frame building. Rev. W. H. Gibbs will be made pastor of the new church.

Rev. Reed Lamb preaches to a large congregation at the C. P. church Monday evening. Rev. Lamb is a native of this county, but for several years he has had charge of churches in Indiana and Pennsylvania.

The ladies have organized an afternoon prayer meeting, held every Wednesday afternoon at the C. P. church.

Sunday afternoon at 5:30 a. m. the Christian Endeavor Society will be organized at the C. P. church.

Rev. W. H. Miley will preach at Post Oak next Sunday afternoon.

The Presbyterian church at this place will shortly elect two elders.

County Sunday School Convention Saturday, July 7, at Midway.

Masonic Ceremonies.

A thousand people witnessed the Masonic ceremonies at the graves of the late Rev. B. H. Mitchell and Dr. Folley at Hopewell church Sunday. The services were participated in by Marion and Carrollton Lodges, Mr. W. H. Cannon officiating for Marion and Mr. A. J. Belmont for Carrollton. When the late brothers were buried, the weather was too inclement for the accustomed burial ceremonies, and the lodges postponed those rites until Sunday.

Twenty-four members of Marion Lodge were present, and they are praising a number of the good citizens of Lola for their hospitality extended them about the noon hour.

Thrown by a Bicycle.

Monday evening as a PRESS report was walking along the road in the Southern suburbs of town, a bicycle rider wheeled up behind him at no slow rate of speed. It was done so quickly we don't just know how it happened. Whether the young man was trying to keep from running over the newspaper man, or just simply wanted to make a record for himself, is unknown to us. Anyhow, in less than no time the young bicyclist and his wheel had exchanged positions and had come to a dead stand still. Lying in the dust, with its face downward, and his heels toward the sky, he said, as he came out from under the machine, duntly and bruntly up. "If this had happened before Bro. Fife's meeting you might have heard something, but I limped off toward town, leading his bicycle.

People's Party Call.

There will be a meeting of the People's party at the court house in Marion on county court day in June. A full attendance is earnestly requested. The editor of the Kentucky Populist will be with us. We invite all who endorse our platform of principles to join with us. There gathered around the capital of this nation a gang of pirates, who thundered successfully at the doors until they have driven this government into the most profligate acts of bad faith and legalized robbery that ever oppressed a free nation since the dawn of history. God in heaven today hears the cry of earth's many toilers, as he heard the bitter cry that arose from the slave fields of Egypt, and he who smote the crown and pride of Egypt will smite the modern Pharaohs who grind the faces of the poor. So everybody come.

Dixon-Marion.

The county seat of Webster county sent a representative to the county of Crittenden county Monday, and now Crittenden has one lovely young lady less and Webster one more, all of which means that Mr. R. C. Hardwick a popular druggist, of Dixon, and Miss Mamie Taylor, of this place, were happily married Monday morning at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's father Mr. C. A. P. Taylor, Rev. T. C. Carter officiating. Only a few intimate friends of the family knew of the approaching nuptial of Miss Maude before Monday, and only a few witnessed the union of the happy hearts. Miss Taylor was very popular with her large circle of acquaintances in Marion. Immediately after the ceremony the groom and his bride left on their long journey from Marion to Dixon taking the best wishes of the people of Marion for their future.

To Take a Trip.

Friday Wm. Dobbs, a young man about 19, who lived with his father at Lola, was delivered to the jailor at this place for safe keeping until the court can adjudicate some little matter of difference between him and the law of the Commonwealth. On the 31st of May some one entered the house of Mrs. Sarah Flanary of this county and took from a trunk $6.00 in cash, a gold watch and a gold finger ring. Many things associated with Dobbs with the transaction, and when arrested he had on his person the missing watch and $5.90 in money; the ring could not be found. He will be on hand at circuit court and is pretty sure to wind up with a trip to Eddyville.

C. C. Holston was allowed $3.00 for plow and team on road.

FIFTY YEARS A MILL "GIRL."

A Massachusetts Woman's Lengthy Experience as a Weaver.

A few days ago Miss Matilda Davis, of Lawrence, Mass., began her fifty-first year as a weaver. When 13 years old she began to earn her own living in a mill at Woodstock, Maine, where she was born and from that day to this has worked in various New England mills as a weaver. As is well known, a mill workers' life to-day is not what it was in those days, but three long past it was infinitely worse. When Miss Davis's first went to work in Deltiam a century ago, she and her fellow weavers were only paid once in three months, counting themselves lucky if they increased $2.50 a week. The girls did not pay their own board, pay for which was deducted from their earnings by the boarding mistress in the mill. The looms and weaving machines were owned by the corporations and the food was poor in quality and scarce in quantity. The said mill of fate was presented the year round-fried potatoes, doughnuts, and biscuits for breakfast, with coffee sweetened with molasses, tough meat and potatoes for dinner, and a repetition of bread fast for the evening meal. One day in each week bread and milk was given to the men during the day, so such as a chair was ever seen in a dormitory, boarding-houses, bachelors doing duty instead; carpets were also unheard of there. At 10 o'clock at night all lights were supposed to be out and everybody in bed. A warning bell rang nightly at 9:45, and fifteen minutes later the "master of the house," as he was then known, made a tour to see that all lights were out. Of recreation the weavers had little or none indeed, after their working parties, because a day they were not exactly in the humor for anything of the kind. Singing school was about the only amusement they knew, except once a year when "the circus" came to town. This was an event to which neither the millowners nor the tradesmen looked forward with any marked degree of satisfaction. The circus took too much money out of town.

HE WAS COMFORTABLE.

Never Did No Object to Having the Hair Plucked From His Head.

No. 1 who visited the Louisville custom house during the term of the federal court will deny that the mountaineers are peculiar people. They are hardy, healthy, and used to all sorts of hardships. In passing through the custom house last winter I came across a negro mountaineer. Whether he was born in the mountains I did not learn, but he had lived in that part of Kentucky for so long that he was one of them truly. It was the custom to shave the cold skin days during the first part of the year. He was in a peculiar position when I saw him and I tried to help him. He had become cold, probably from wandering around the streets, and had gone into the custom house and lain down by one of the heaters. His hat was off and his pillow was the hot pipe of the heater.

I would not have noticed him particularly had not the air been charged with the smell of smoke very strong like burning hair. I looked at the negro closely. His bushy head was resting against the hot pipes and his hair was scorching. He was sleeping profoundly, unconscious, I suppose, even that he was in a big city. The perspiration was streaming down his face, and trickled off his nose and lips as he moved them with loud guttural snores. I touched my gloved hand to the heated. It was so hot I jerked it away quickly. I shook the unfeeling, half-frozen, child-like head and asked for the truncheon. He was pointed out and the court ordered him to stand up.

"Mr. ——" said the Judge, addressing the derelict, "you did not understand the order of the court last night requiring you to stand up on hand after supper?"

"Yes, your honor," said the young man, explaining, "when you are taken quite so long out of town and my wife gave me an order prior to the court's order, and her order was that I shouldn't stay in town over night. I considered the matter and concluded it was safer to risk your honor's displeasure than her's, because," he added earnestly, "I know her."

The court looked solemn a moment, as if weighing some mighty problem, then a smile passed across his face and the large, court official spectators broke out in unanimous laughter. The juryman was forgiven; there were many there who could, perhaps, appreciate his position.

NOT THE BEST.

The Old Men Stock to the Colors Even in the Face of Death.

The judge, concerning the personal taste of dispossessing the pensioner, was well supported by an anecdote related by Colonel T. A. Dodge. He says:

"Many years ago, in Richmond, while I was standing with a friend in his doorway, while he gave some instructions to a colored servant, there happened to pass one of the beauties of the city. We both took our hats, courtesy in our attitudes, admiration in our hearts."

Took a Sitting Hat With Her.

An Atlanta paper is credited with having originated this story: An old lady, living in Jefferson, Ga., who possessed a sitting hat, but hated to go down the incline, was assigned to the lower seat in the "giraffe." After the giraffe started the girl slipped down at the feet of her companions and found a seat on something, the nature of which she did not stop to investigate. A short way down the incline she remarked that it was hard to get up. She said, "I am afraid I'll fall." Her friends repeated the observation, and her companions remarked that they had not noticed it, while the minor who had the party in charge assured her that the incline was supposed to be cool. She continued to call attention to the heat, however, and at the station she scrambled out of the giraffe, exclaiming, "Whew! but it was hot in there!" The minor was mystified, but caused the entire party by dryly remarking, "It's no wonder you were warm; you were sitting on that gentleman's lantern."

Isn't She a Beauty? said I.

"Isn't she a beauty?" he echoed.

"Miss, isn't she, Uncle Ned?" he added, turning to the old servant.

"Miss Ellen's mighty fine lady," responded Ellen in a deferential, but somewhat hesitating tone.

"Why, what do you mean, Uncle Ned? I'm not my friend, rather noted and curios with all the old darky manner."

"Well, Mars' Tom, said the ole man, 'tell de houses' truf, we nigga'ndink'goin' tru de white ledgies is so handsome as de black ones."

Said the United States.

There were 14,000 barrels of salt produced in the United States in the year 1860, as against 11,755,751 barrels in 1860—a falling off of 350,000 barrels. Each barrel weighed 280 pounds, making a total of 3,201,906,390 pounds. In addition to this, there were imports of 301,096,537 pounds, so that this country counteracted the effects of the enormous quantities of sugar used by making way with 3,583,000,977 pounds on about 1,706,951 tons of salt.

An Effective Serum.

Somebody complimented Sidney Smith on a cruelty sermon he had preached, to which the divine replied: "I believe it was effective, for old Lady Cork borrowed a sovereign of a stranger in the pew next to mine."

SOME FISH.

They Came Filling in so Fast that They Nearly Took the Sleep.

The Hossler poet Riley has a new story regarding the influence of music, he said recently to a reporter in his general name. "Strange what an influence music has upon a man. Especially the kind that starts upon a man. Bill Peaseley, for instance. He wasn't much of a singer, yet he caused quite a disturbance by singing an old gospel hymn right across from my business place. Right across from my business place. Now this man, he sang every day last July a man placed a ladder against the grocery store and tried to put up a sign nearly twice a foot long over the window. There was an element of intense interest in this proceeding to the trade men who gathered around the ladder to see what the man was up to. He stood upon his precariously balanced perch pretty soon Bill Peaseley came along. He joined the group, putting his hands behind his back in a lazy manner, and began softly whistling the "Sweet By and Bye." The air was so soft and persuasive that the man next to Bill took it up and began whistling to. Another joined in, and still another, and still another, and finally all were up to it. The situation was further complicated by his effort to come in with his bass whistle at the proper time, when his first whistle had stopped. As far as I can see, he was a natural born singer, and he was a natural born songwriter, and he was a natural born entrepreneur."

"Abundant as the finny tribe is in the North Carolina waters," said Colonel Walter H. Evans, of Florida, who had been listening to Colonel Keogh, "it is not till you get down into my country that you find fish in multitudinous quantities, so to speak in the Indian river, particularly, they are far too thick for the fisherman and often embarrass him with their sudden appearance."

"A man who fished in the river," said Colonel Keogh, "all the front part of his head—about half of it—was bald. The use of only two bottles restored a natural growth, which still continues as in my youth. I have never heard of other dressings failing."
